Dear Folks;

It feels as though everything has been snowballing around us for the last six weeks or so. Except for orders we haven't touched our mail since the April 26th Class started (and even some of these were delayed). But, thank goodness we're coming out of the woods into a much more glorious kind of world. We're two foot taller -- at least.

How are you supposed to feel when you find your philosophy of life has been in error? This happens to all and when we recently began to find a new set of "laws" that opened up whole new vistas -- it happened to us. The feeling cannot be described -- except as "good." We've gained a much "straighter" view of how the pieces fit together.

This means that we have had to rediscover the truths that each of the World's psychotherapies was based upon. This further follows out to mean that we have had to re-establish within ourselves the COMBINED TRUTH OF ALL OF THEM. In this is real FREEDOM!!!!

Take any field of psychotherapy and from within that field select one or more concepts that have developed because of the insights that its Founder has. Take these concepts and explain them in terms of any of the other fields so that the persons in the second field have a clear understanding of how their knowledge fits into the first field.

This is precisely the task that has kept us from putting out "Lessons in Living." Thus, when we finally sit down to produce these most vital lessons we're going to know EXACTLY how each piece of life fits into all other pieces of life. This is what we are doing.

When I was 12 years of age I came across an explanation of the subconscious mind. It sounded like a "rational" explanation of how I worked. I began to function more in accord with these concepts -- I became more "Normal". Don't take me wrong -- while this wasn't for my ultimate good it did make me better adjusted and I was able to give others the right (to them) answers for why I wasn't more of a success than I was.

But, psychology is a broad field and contains, within itself, ALL the truths (albeit unaligned) that man will ever need to become greater than he is. The thinkers within psychology have had insights and have formed splinter groups -- each of which felt that he had found the "truth" about man -- not realizing that there is no single truth about man's society but that all truths combined form the crystal that men are seeking. Each insight is felt to be "the" thing until another man comes along and forms another splinter group around another insight.

We're showing you a pattern here because there was a time when psychology itself was a splinter group that was forced into existence by the inadequacies of science to explain man as he really is. And, by going back a bit further you find where science was a splinter group from religion (it was known as Alchemy in those days and evolved into our present sciences). The various Faiths of the world also were, at one time, splinter groups.

Eventually each of the splinters took on a new name for itself and considered that it was different from all other splinters. Some of the splinters were called "schools" such as the Nancy School from which the old master hypnotist Hippolyte Bernheim shone forth upon a confused world. This was the "suggestion" technique adherents. Or, the "Animal Magnetism" School of Anton Mesmer.

Freud's beginning came as a split from hypnotism -- he called his work psychoanalysis. Since then periodically there have been more splits from his insights and more new groups formed around these new truths. Each of these groups built a whole "system" by which man was explained and each group felt that it had ALL of truth and that all others were fools in the dark. There are even splits that tend to revert back toward the original earlier groups; Coueism's "day by day" affirmation technique was such a one tended toward the prayer of religion. There are even splits that "look" as though they are new and radical discoveries such as Mesmer's "Magnetism", Hubbard's Dianetics. But all are eventually seen in proper relationship by true seekers who are determined to understand themselves.

Let us drop the psychological approach for a moment and step back to religion which started most of our present splinters going. Here too, we note that many splits are now considered separate and new groups. Occultism, Alchemy, Magic, Spiritualism, Message groups and prayer circles of all types and many that have come and gone are but some of these. And within these groups are many splinters which seem to be inevitable no matter where one looks. The eventual growth seems to devide groups into enough splinters to where the gems have been sorted out of the gravel at which time the gems are "re-combined" into a new whole. The gravel being discarded blends into the universe and this process goes on continually giving one the impression of a juggernaut.

We seem to be at a crucial point. The Eidetic Foundation seems to have the task of the "re-combining" into a new whole. The beginning point of a new set of splinters. Why? Because it seems to have devolved upon us to separate the gems from the stones -- which we've been doing night and day. We've been finding the basic reasons for the existence of just all known (to us) fields of psychotherapy. Our knowledge is including such fields as Psychoanalysis, Occupational Therapy, Sports, Behaviourism, Gestalt, Semantics, Dianetics, Huna, Spiritualism, Coueism, Cumberlandism; Metaphysics, Witchcraft, Voodoo, Parapsychology, Magic, Scientology, Yoga, Theology and a number of others. Each of these has truth and can be understood in each other's terms. The eventual truth might be considered to be a "distillate"... and this is a truly glorious crystal of knowledge as it begins to form for us... and this is what we are teaching our classes and in our publications.

Along with our joining the Elks and expecting to join the Chamber of Commerce (as soon as they figure out the classification to put us into) we are starting a schedual of Miracle healings for local people only. We feel that it is little use to teach something that we have not proven inpublic use to be of benefit and successful. The schedual will be Mon., Wed., and Fri. 1-5 PM. These will be free but donations will be accepted. With the range of our perceptions growing and our capabilities increasing we've been finding healings an easy thing to do. We've been doing it for many people but we're going to spread it around a good bit more as part of our public service.

Still nothing to report on the Air Corps but we are going to contact other public agencies such as the National Health (U.S.) Dept., Army, Navy, and a number of others. We feel that the possibilities are there for us. It being just a matter of making our work known.

A few days ago we took time out to put down (on tape) some of our re-search results on the Aphorisms of Patanjali which has been transcribed and is being edited to be put out as "Perfect Self-improvement." We have spent a number of months testing the material in these Aphorisms and have found them to be of fantastic value. We've made up a folder onit that you should have very shortly -- be sure to look for it. This book has in it information about Levitations, teleportation, apports, wealth, and loads of other most interesting information.

Had a letter yesterday morning from a gal in Florida who took us up on one of our special offers. After reading the four books she cracked through all her difficulties in a very short time with the "Conviction-Evidence Sprial" material in "Hypnotism in Practice." A few of her comments are quotable and may inspire others to begin some real work also...."then stand aside, listen and HEAR a cell in your nose that's gained intelligence and asnwers 'Wonderful' - Contact! Contact those on the other side," and, " --- You talk about power! and I wouldn't lift a little finger to harm a hair on the head of any creature. Not now I wouldn't brother - I flinch to kill a fly." And, "New Glory and power is added every moment. My life unfolding faster than ever hand could write. My tongue is dumb before it. My brain cannot hold its measurements -- I've cracked the shell asunder and expanded its consciousness and its vibrations and my soul has passed the doorway of the sun--"

All inall, her letter has an excited new breathless quality about it that gives a clear picture of the newness and freshness of her life as she is beginning to see it. This letter is but one of the indications that our material cracks open the material that people want worked on. And if people can get it from our books think of how much easier it is for those who come directly to us as, for example, two couples who recently spent some time with us and left so much happier than when they arrived -- Marriage counseling is definitely a part of our job. Marriage problems come up as a part of one's progress and it is as easy to help two people as it is to help one. If there are any who want to come as couples please let us know and we'll be only to happy to give the benefit of our experience. Remember that the road to optimum BEGINS when the individual has learned how to be happy!

The marriage counseling angle is getting a work out on two other points also -- a test being performed by a couple of our students to assist married couples who have no knowledge of our work to find happiness through group work. This data will be of import to future students who might wish to be marriage counselors. And, secondly, a few weeks ago we had a young couple stop overnight. They had done a beautiful job of adjusting to each other and had worked out a set of rules by which this could be done. We've asked them to write the rules out for the newsletter which they have promised to do as soon as they settle in their new California home. This is something that we are looking forward to -- it should be of help to many.

Incidentally, we'd like to make a public announcement -- concerning Hubbardian Dianetics. There was a moment when we felt that the study of Dianetics was the most vital that anyone could undertake. We went into it and tried our best to be the very best. But, one failure after another led us to throw away ALL that we had taken on. We went even further -- we hated Hubbard and all that he turned out. We refused to look at anything he thought up. We had truly turned sour. Our home life began to give off a stench as though a skunk lived there -- namely me. We had hit the bottom of a cycle.

One of the most sure ways of becoming optimum is to become involved with life to such an extent that one realizes that he is helpless and he will then turn to pure knowledge. This happened to us. We made the turn. For quite some time after making the turn for the better I refused to have anything to do with Hubbard -- for fear of being corrupted again. But, we have re-discovered (from other angles) so many of the percepts that Hubbard used in his first book that we must publicly admit that we were wrong in speaking out against Dianetics and Hubbard. To some of the old timers in that field we point out that our research indicates that the first book combined with Effort processing and responsibility concepts will elicit the optimum condition faster and more permanently. We once again, take our hats off to Mr. Hubbard and point out to others that his work has eventually led many to seek a higher level of truth. Truth truly is everywhere.

Every individual eventually must take a hand in the responsibilities that are his in his community. We have begun to grow into this new range of responsibilities by becoming corresponding Secretary for the Local Tax Payer's Assn.. We're learning more and more about people through it.

Remember that we give a money back guarantee on our teachings -- It is our job to show you how you can get what you want out of life. You can come for a week, two, three or a month. Starting dates for our classes for the rest of this year will be -- July 5th, Aug. 2, Aug. 30, Sept. 27, Nov. 1, and Nov. 25.. Jan 3rd will start off 1955.

With warmth,
Rev. J. W. Welgos.
