

THE SECOND TERMINAL

Numero 35

Franklin S. Sullivan, D. Scn
Entrepreneur

Hello everybody.-- This is not Frank talking, but Robin Harper, late of Saint Hill, HCOW. Frank is extra busy, and has asked me to get this issue out for him. Having never edited anything-- even a school journal, this is slightly overwhelming, but now that I have told you, I commit no DED. So help me Hubbard.

America is fun-- space and freedom. Come to think of it, in moving out from under a 'reign of terror', I am emulating your first citizens. No, I have not recalled a past body of being one of them. Been in New Zealand for quite a while. But, I sure am not finding your states to be a land of milk and wampum. Yes, and you have some wild indians, too. Right now, the pecuniary situation is acute.

Scientology is wonderful. In spite of all that I tell you below, my attitude has not changed. But, to make a few gains, I certainly have taken a lot of bumps. I am very low toned, by Huborgdefinition. "A low toned person is one who owns his own thoughts-- especially about Huborg, and Huborg personnel." I have to thank Frank with all my heart for providing a stable bridge over the morass which is Huborg.

As a late comer, (1956), I missed all of the basics taught prior to this time. But, the literature of the basic data seemed right. But still, I observed that the processes since 1956 consistently missed their mark. And they became more and more complex and mechanical.

Simplicity is tops. Complexity? That is the stuff from which traps are made. And so many of us allowed ourselves to be trapped.

The history of my struggles to find out what I wanted to know covers six years of what seemed like endless courses; HPA, private practice, B.Sc. more private practice; several validation courses, more private practice, then the fifth ACC, London-- famous for its unfinished cycles (on how not to run engrams-- same as 21st American), and 'broken pieces' which emerged. But tho these things helped, it is what Frank calls the Hub-ub that got me.

Not being able to equate the Ron of early data and achievements with the failures all around me, I decided to find out for myself just what had happened to the early Ron who gave us the stuff from which life is made. So, I applied for any job that needed doing at Saint Hill.

Mary Sue asked me to look after the children, as their nurse had just 'blown'. This I did for nearly two months, then pining for auditing again, I gave my notice. Upshot was that Ron asked me to be Franchise Sec. WW. a short time later, he transferred me to be Technical Sec. WW. This included auditing Saint Hill staff.

Then followed months of interesting and eye-opening happenings. I gradually-- oh, so gradually shed my wide eyed innocence. I watched with horror the far from optimum results of Org. processing. I read with interest the student's reports from all over the planet, and felt helpless in the face of the various directors of training's frustrations.

Time passed. ACCs dragged their weary courses, and I watched from the centre of the paper chain. What a story of broken strands, unduplicated communications, problems posed by inefficient executives! And Ron skillfully patched emergencies. But the paper chain grew wearisome, and in answer to my resignation, Ron moved me onto the Saint Hill Briefing Course as an instructor. I was glad.

Coming up scale in a Huborg has its hazards. With the help of an old-time American Scientologist's (Not Frank-- my first comm with him was but a few weeks ago.)-- and oftentimes the deservng butt of his lashing tongue, and "All is not well and why and wherefore," said I to myself. But, still puzzled and still coming up and along, I finally reached the stage wherein I did not consider an overtly expressed opinion to Mary Sue to be an 'unkind thought' or even sacrilege or blasphemy. I said that I did not think that Ron was 'clear'.... (Editor's note: Lots of details omitted-- who cares. She was accused of auditing a Saint Hill "contract" when no contract existed, asked for a Sec. check, which was refused.)

..... And so endeth one cycle of action in a game wherein I felt more like a piece or a broken piece than I did like ME. I have Frank Sullivan to thank for auditing this out. How many PDHes in this life? WOW! Hard to say, as we now just run out the energy masses which contained them-- and the commands fall out like when you shuck a peapod. Here are some of them:

"'You can't fight us'; 'You can't win'; 'You always forgot'; 'This is ridiculous'; 'This isn't happening'; 'You'll never rejoin them'; 'You are no-thing'; 'Squirrels always die'; 'You will look to us for your knowledge'; and so forth; and so forth.

Ever heard of vortices? Boy! Was I jammed in tight! How many hours of 'missed witholds', 3D criss-cross and robot auditing would have extricated me from that junk? Perhaps an infinite number-- as it is not even headed that direction. A couple of ACC instructors got Huborg all stirred up when they even said that there were such things. Frank did this in twenty-three hours, and is the only auditor who has ever completely held my interest in session. And he didn't lock the door either-- in fact we did some of in the back yard. I feel fine and no longer guilty of everything.

Incidentally, he had to clean up a lot of present life, mostly Huborg Gucky-goo before we went back track. Huborg slaves just take a little longer. The hubub of commands, accusations without foundation, skillfully applied force, maybes-- ridicule-- weariness and no most havingness; these things are mixed up with the knowingness of the truth and beauty of the original data, feelings of loyalty, that the confusion is complete. Add to this the slow to die faith in the old Ron, the total blindness toward, to a reluctance in accepting the contrast with the present Dr. L. Ron Hubbard, and you have fertile ground for the boo-boos found in present Huborg activity.

With Huborg no longer a stuck picture, but placed in its right perspective, as the other-determined force that it is, I feel I can contribute some to the game and make possible our original goals in Scientology.

Editor's Note, and auditor's note: It is interesting to note that with both Robin and Huborg's other ex-tech soc., who also divested herself before she knew anything about my doings, are a couple of the old track addicts. The heaviest thing that either of them ran was the final death of the last thetan, granting-of-beingness, neither white side nor black side. TRUE 3rd dynamic, colictan type game on this planet,-- in Arizona in 1947 A.L. Tactans of high endowment may get sucked in, but they do not stay sucked in.

VACUUM CLEANING PROCEDURE

Compiled by Robin Harper

THEORY

The prime requisite leading toward the increase in ability of the thetan is that all which obstructs this ability be addressed and removed. All evidence indicates that these obstructions consist only of the solids of the bank. These solids appear in many forms and patterns, and ensconced within them may be found all of the manifestations of the reactive bank. These include total unknowingness, mystery, body and personality compulsions such as eatingness and sex, symbols, mis-emotion, thinkingness--all alter-isnesses misownerships of prime postulates, usually imposed by other-determinism, and resisted by theta-determinism. The purpose of Vacuum Cleaning Procedure is to remove them physically, and to allow the thinkingness therein contained to become but memory-- with no command value.

This is accomplished by putting these memories on the time track thru violating the law of universes, (Axiom 12), matched terminalling, use of newly discovered principle of displacement by use of vacuums.

The procedure consists of four piece de resistance processes, and several auxiliary ones, as follows:

1. SELECTION OF TERMINALS

The best terminal to use is one pertaining centrally to the goals given by the preclear in the rudiments. Of course, if there is a present time problem, a terminal pertaining to it should be used.

If the pertinent terminal is not available to the preclear, or the goal is of such a general nature that investigation is necessary to locate it, the following straightwire can be used. Use the commands alternatively:

"Tell me something about ___ you can accept just as it is."

"Tell me something about ___ you are resisting."

"Tell me something about ___ you are trying to escape from."

If your preclear is in good shape, and there is plenty of time, if a fast rise occurs, have him find a terminal pertaining to it. It is safe to take large drops, at first, or if the preclear might have trouble handling heavy material. The faster the drop, the closer it, or the key-in is to present time.

Actually, the selection of a terminal is not as important as it has seemed to be in other processes. Sure, we like to get out of there that which is keyed in. But, in the overall picture, we are just trying to get out of there as much "tonnage" of bank as the preclear can handle. Also, somehow, if the most critical terminal does not come up at first, it shows up very shortly, in the processing.

If a generality or condition is known, a specific terminal can often be found by:

"Mockup a black mass, and postulate that ___ is in it."

This works wonderfully, when the preclear can do it-- and he can do it a whole lot oftener than you imagine it can.

STANDARD TERMINALS

As the purpose of this procedure is to get rid of "tonnage" it is of interest to know what terminals, symbols seem, from experience to be the most productive. The purpose of any terminal is to key-in a chain. Some pre-clears' banks contain mostly long chains, others, mostly short chains. These standard terminals lead into longer and heavier chains. One preclear ran most of 20 hours on purple crosses. But the record is 50 hours on a grey mass- and it is still there. It is likely that the preclear shoved her goodies into it instead of into the body, which is homo sap SOP.

Black, white or colored masses, all descriptions
 Crosses. Start with christian. It will change to appropriate one with a few handling. These seem to mean other-determinism, control. T or tau cross, with no upward extension is the symbol of theta-determinism. A person playing on the black control side, only, will have charge on this one.

One's own body. THIS ONE MUST BE HANDLED EARLY IN EVERY CASE.

Spheres, planets, triangles, other geometric figures, including pyramids. THESE ARE HOT.

Brides of Christ. Priests, nuns, etc. When religious vows are made, they are made 'forever'. Address each above separately.

Hypnotist, eyes, hypnotic machines. Address each separately.

There are others which have recurred many times. My heaviest was Dr. L. Ron Hubbard, and jumping off the cliff in 1547. Frank tells me that this is common for Scientologists and toleos, respectively. Check all staff members, others who located you in time and space, also all allies.

GENERAL RULES

1. Expect anything. No two preclears' banks are alike.
2. Eventually, and often immediately, you can get the proper terminal simply by asking the preclear. The gross invalidation is ignoring the preclears' data, when he is really comming with you. Nothing will put a thetan in hiding quicker than will this invalidation. This is not an engram-torture, nor a figure-figure process, and you will find the thetan comming to you most of the time. Just decide to KNOW the difference between theta comm and bank rattling.
3. If something does not work, it is because something else has to be done first. Become familiar with the auxiliary processes, and know when to use them.

BASIC ROUTINE COMMANDS

These are used immediately after terminal has been determined. Use them in numerical sequence. If the terminal is not too overwhelming, and the preclear handles things OK, this will do it. Expect the preclear's mockup ability to vary greatly. Frank says that his own turn down, almost off sometimes when he hits something heavy. Sometimes they get uncontrollable. But, this does not last. A person who thinks his mockup ability is clear off is just stuck at such a point. If the preclear can just 'get the idea' that they are there, these processes work surprisingly well, tho not optimum. But just keep running them, and when the preclear gets out from under his cloud, his pictures will be pretty as can be.

I MATCHED TERMINALLING AND SKYING OR GROUNDING

"Mock up _ _ _ _."

"Copy it."

"Set up an energy flow between the original and the copy."

This will occur spontaneously. Each terminal is apt to produce a different type of flow. This part, Ron's process, 1952.

"Let this energy flow just as long as it will flow, and tell me when it is simmered down."

Check to make sure that the flow flows in BOTH directions; that it remains as ENERGY, does not go solid. If it does go solid, have preclear detach it at both ends place it above the original, copy it, and run this line as a terminal, sky it or ground it, as below. If the line turns black, have preclear sky the line, as below, and set up a new energy flow line...Then when simmered--

"Create a white tube high into the air (or deep into the ground-- which ever preclear can do the best). Be sure this tube is white and stays white." (After a number of runs, just say, "Sky it.")

"Allow the two terminals to snap together and fly up (down if grounding is used) and cause it to explode."

"Did it explode?"

Preclear may send it into the sun, mock up a sun, or do most anything he wishes to to help it explode-- or burn up rapidly.

In the event that there is too much on the terminal, and it will not move, run agree-disagree if a command can be found; resist, lest pass thru, some other auxiliary process, until it can be handled.

Sometimes a portion of the terminal, or a shadow of it will remain. If you get any kind of an explosion, go right on to II. This process just serves to take the kinetic charge off.

II AXIOM 12 PROCESS

"Mock up _ _ _ _ again."

"Copy it."

As in 'II

"Push the copy into the original."

"Pull it out and tell me what you have."

What comes out? The same thing, or most anything else-- that is on the same chain. Now what we will get eventually is just about what you would expect to get when you pull the chain. Excepting we politely use different 3,4,5 letter words for it... like goo guck, smoke, but are trying to standardize on the tword "smuck." Know whatsa tword? It's a two word. Another one of Frank's magnificent and colossal cognitions.

But, now, back to the privy. If it keeps coming out the same, there is some fixation on the terminal, or computation that must be gotten out. Find it and get it out. Then continue, until you get smuck.

The process is complete when the reservoir of smuck is exhausted. Sometimes, there are machines which are still making this stuff. Handle them as you would any other terminal.

When the preclear finally gets the smuck:
 "Create a tube and flow it up (down), just as long as it will flow."

III. AXIOM 12 PROCESS WITH BODY TERMINAL

Do not assume that your preclear cannot run this one. It may be vague at first, but if once you do not succeed, try again. It is this one which will clean up implantations, along with present life PDHes, without directly addressing them. Each command is unconced in an energy mass in the body. When the energy mass is blown, its power is dissipated.

The portion of the bank which is keyed-in is pulled into the body. Process II blows the less sensitive part of the chain, will weakens the implants, masses, machines-- but mainly effects ridges.

"Mock up _ _ _ _."

"Run an energy flow line from _ _ _ _ to your physical body, and allow it to go where it seeks to go."

"Where did this line contact the body?"

"Unmock the body, and tell me what this line is connected to."

Often, they will say, "To my backbone" or some other body part. If they cannot unmock it, accept it and run it. But, on each other terminal, continue to ask him to unmock it. He will soon be able to.

"Unmock the energy flow line."

"Copy (mass, or whatever he found in body)."

"Push this copy into the original."

"Pull it out and tell me what you have."

Continue as is Process 2.

IV. VACUUM CLEANING PROCESS

This can be run as in Process II or Process III. Latter is the most effective, as per listed commands.

"Mock up _ _ _ _."

"Unmock _ _ _ _, and find the space, or vacuum which it occupied."

"Push this vacuum into the physical body."

"Pull this vacuum out of the physical body."

"Sky(ground) the contents, but keep the vacuum."

"Push this vacuum into the physical body"..... keep pushing it in and pulling it out, again, again-- until by your judgment, it is no longer dragging out a profitable payload.

This process is fast, and there is nothing wrong with using it almost entirely.

If something does not sky, (ground) something else has to be done. Use Process II, or whatever you see fit to use.

In running this, it is necessary for you to be something more than a mechanical auditor. There are three classes of auditors. 1. mechanics, 2. artisans, 3 artists. The three types listed by Huborg are three grades of mechanics. They are adept at rote and ritual.

This procedure, if followed will do very well. But, there will be constantly things happening, as each preclear is different; and the auditor is going to have to do what he believes to be best. Actually, what we are doing is knocking heck out of the bank. We have good tools to use, and the auditor has to decide whether to sledge, chisel, dynamite. The artist sees the preclears bank, and KNOWS what to do next. Art, creativity-- the level of knowingness, even lookingness is not a constant, will vary from time to time.

AUXILIARY PROCESSESAGREE-DISAGREE

This is a specific for hypnosis.

Hypnosis IS an enforced flow from the hypnotist to the victim. The presence of flow is not always discernible to everyone, as Ron has pointed out in R-54, "Creation of Human Ability." But, this is not the case when hypnotism is contacted. They are THERE.

The rehabilitation of the ability to agree and to disagree with the hypnotic command, on one's own theta-determinism is a frontal attack on aberration. The commands are:

"Agree with _____."

"Disagree with _____." Run alternately.

After it begins to run easily, use:

"Agree with _____ and you create the inflow of agreement."

"Disagree with _____ and you create the outflow of disagreement."

Have him run it until he can do either with equal ease.

RESIST- ALLOW TO PASS THRU

As per earliest Scientology theory, these energy masses, ridges are built up, only to the extent that we resist something. It is difficult to let something pass thru, only, without some form of not-issness coming about. So when the stuck flow involves other than a specific command, we use this process. The commands are:

"Resist the flow from _____."

"Allow the flow from _____ to pass thru." Run alternately.

Run until preclear can do either comfortably.

CAUSE- AGREE

To be run on heavy material, to re-enforce above processes.

"Mock up (terminal)."

"You tell (statement in agreement with command, etc.)... Have (terminal) agree with you."

"You tell (statement in disagreement with command, etc.)... Have (terminal) agree with you." Run last two commands alternately.

OTHER AUXILIARY PROCESSES

Entrepreneur's note: Running out of space. Other processes found in issues 30-thru 33. Check them over. They are important to know if procedure bogs; are the "something else that should be done first."

Back to Robin:

As Frank points out clearly in Numero 33, "There is no evidence contrary to the truth that, that which aberrates is contained within the solids of the bank, and when these solids are removed, the aberration is removed."

My own experience with Frank has demonstrated this conclusively to my own satisfaction. Once the smuck held energy began to flow out, the counter survival considerations, postulate, opinions began to appear. Most are other determined, held in place by the energy, made solid, of our resistance. In my case, they were mostly commands contained in the PDHes... the misemotion and the effort. I feel so much lighter, so much freer and less guilty. My self-determinism is coming back.. I am no longer afraid. "Squirrels always die" has been engraved in my bank in scarlet. Now, I know that this was an other determined command..and I believed that any non Hubbard's Witness was a squirrel..that anyone who had his own thoughts would die.

My goal--our goal is to be free; free of the torturous evaluations of the other determinism of both our own banks and those of the thoughtmaster. This is possible. This is our Thetaright.

Ron Has pioneered the way--why is he making it so complicated and difficult of attainment? His worldwide organizations are achieving an infinitesimal percentage of what should be possible. His-- or rather Dr. L. Ron Hubbard's-- training methods are producing machines of doubtful quality. I have studied and practiced for six years, and considered good enough to be assigned to Mary Sue as her personal auditor. Yet, I know from my observations of all concerned that our cases are not much different than when we started.

What of the future? I have my own personal plans-- but with Scientology, I will find out more of the original data that Ron gave us. This is found in the Phoenix Lecture Series of 1952, 50 course booklets, the 88 and 8-80 lecture series, Hart's and O'Brien's notes on the Philadelphia Doctorate Course, the London Lecture Series, 1953, Philadelphia Congress, 1953-- George Seidlers "Look- Don't Think," various early Clinical Course tapes-- particularly the tapes of the 7th, on the axioms. In these, there is beauty, and there is truth. These are "thetan nourishment."

We may as well recognize, or, as Ron has put it; wopse--the law of the sea; BE TOO BIG TO BE SWALLOWED. BE TOO THETA-DETERMINED TO BE SWALLOWED. I intend to know, look, do for myself. As far as Scientology is concerned, I intend to-- as Frank puts it-- steal those beautiful, delicious, and nourishing morsels right off the hook. Know what we ought to do? Form an International society of Bait-Stealers of the World. But Frank, doggine him, is allergic to organizations. Let's do it anyways.
